For people previously active in EU Countries, that have already attended other courses as established by the current legislation, it may be helpful to fulfil educational and training aims.

It may be also of interest for all other professionals, to improve their continuous education, in particular on ethics and welfare state of the art and challenges.

Evaluation

At the end of the event, a final test is foreseen. It consists of a set of multiple-choice questions (with only one correct answer) to be completed online no later than the third day after the event closure. It is compulsory for participants requiring CFP credits, and suggested for all the others to self-evaluate the level of acquired knowledge. The test is considered passed if 75% of the responses are correct. You will be also invited to evaluate the quality of the webinar through a brief participants' satisfaction questionnaire.
